

Give a piece of your heart, a piece to help others so that hope will grow. Giving and Taking should always be in balance. We take since the moment we are born unto this earth, now it is time to give. Give to those who are in need, to those who have fallen on hard times.

Give a part of you, as nature does in Spring and Fall. Plant a seed of hope for another, and you shall reap the feeling of helpfulness, of giving hope and warmth and then you will be a better person.

The fruit of our giving is the hope which sparks in the eyes of those to whom we give and whom we help, that is the magic of giving.

E. Kucera